Abstract: The ethical issues that public sector workers and other professionals confront with, are universal. Once the development of technology, the extension of business relationships and the improvement of democratic institutions, dealing with ethical issues and conflicts will become more and more challenging in the future. All the institutions of the modern world, from the private sector, as well as from the govern-mental one, will be confronted with challenges concerning the ethics.*

Key words: ethics, ethical issues, ethical codes*
